The second attempt was more successful, for they created two different types of bodies—male and female. This provided vehicles that would perpetuate themselves and created the vehicles necessary to house the Gods who, at this point, were very eager to walk upon the Earth.

“So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them.” (Genesis 1:27)

At this point in time, the Gods could come and go at will, and they did. In their zest for creativity, the images they projected into the first cells consisted of animals that were both herbivores and carnivores. They created the herbivores to balance the plant kingdom, and the carnivores to balance the herbivores. The Elohim had no understanding of fear, pain or death, for these feelings were not of their kingdom. The Elohim were of spirit. The options of fear, pain and death were only available to them when they entered the body.

This was the beginning of limitation, for the baser attitudes and emotions of pain and fear lowered the vibration of the Elohim. Many became entrapped within the bodies. Because of their altered, fearful state, they were unable to leave the body and return to the higher state of consciousness. Since the beginning of fear, humans have been very creative with lower vibrational thought and have considerably lowered their original vibration, or consciousness. Through the years, in their struggles to survive, humanity has been subject to their environment, rather than lord over their environment. They are now at a point in evolution where survival does not weigh so heavily upon their minds.

It was the struggle to survive and the fear of pain and death that began the journey into limitation. The original sin or fall of man was not a sin, but a choice to walk among and experience his own creation. Those who chose to enter the body equipped with the five senses and engage matter are the greater for it. Wisdom equates power, and a treasure house of wisdom has been gained over the many incarnations. Those who choose can now take the time to gaze at the stars, contemplate their origin as co-creators born of the original light, and start to awaken and remember, thus beginning the journey home.

The Soul and Multilevel Being

As we have seen, after the first division and the creation of the suns, the planets and the mineral, plant and animal kingdoms, the Elohim (the Gods) also created the vehicles to walk among their creations. The vehicles (bodies) were created in the same image and likeness of the Gods, and in order to inhabit the bodies, they again lowered their vibrations and created the “Soul.”

The soul is an aspect of the God that created it. It is designed to govern the body and to record all that the body experiences. It was also equipped to make adjustments to the body, adapt it to different environments, and evolve the body to better suit the God that inhabited it. It is part of a vibrational continuum. Humanity is the chosen vehicle of the Gods that created the universe. It is written that “I am Gods and the spirit of God dwells within you.” This is indeed a fact. Within you resides a great God. It is buried under layers of fear, unworthiness and wrong conclusions from past experience. The soul, which once was a shining example and counterpart of a great God, through time has been altered greatly by false identification with lower vibrational attitudes and emotions. Your true identity is neither the fear nor the unworthiness. You are not the wrong conclusions from past experience. You are not what you have been told by your parents, society or the holy men who keep you in darkness and subservience. You are Gods. You forgot now, didn't you?

It was Paul who said, “We have bodies celestial and bodies terrestrial”—another example of this understanding. As one expands in consciousness, one expands upward and outward along a vibrational continuum consisting of many levels. This process has been called many things, and the levels have been given many names. Some call it “contacting the higher self,” “the holy spirit” or just plain “enlightenment.” As one expands along this continuum, they experience higher, more unlimited states of consciousness. Thought has a vibration, and the most unlimited thoughts are pure, unconditional love and joy. It is no wonder that you experience more love, joy and sometimes ecstasy in expanded states of consciousness. This is also where genius originates. There are meditations and initiations that will help you enter states of higher consciousness.

Those who have made conscious contact with higher planes and dimensions can assist you in your journey, yet this process must be done with integrity and in honor of each individual as a unique expression of God. It also must honor your divine right to free will and self determination. You all have your own unique purpose for being.

Will & Personality

Each and every one of you has free will. This freedom allows you the divine right of self determination. With this gift comes responsibility, for you are living in an action-reaction world, known as the plane of demonstration, where consciousness creates reality. You came to this plane called "Earth" to live a loving, joyous, abundant life with a strong reverence for life in all forms.

There are many levels of consciousness. The will determines which level each individual chooses to express from or to be his or her identity. It is wise to turn the will over to the highest level of consciousness. This understanding was given when Jesus said, "I of myself do nothing. The Father within me doeth the works." Another prayer is, "Not my will, but thine be done." (Luke 22:42) There is a danger to self and others when the will is placed in the hands of the personality or the intellect. Both are riddled with fear, unworthiness, anger, "againstness," greed and a whole host of baser attitudes and emotions.

The personality (or the intellect) can justify and defend almost any action or behavior. When you go beyond the personality, love is the manifesting force behind all action—love of God, love of humanity, love of nature. The vast majority of governing bodies upon the Earth are run by personalities and intellects. Even most of your religious organizations are run by intellectual understandings and personalities. If the will were given over to the higher aspects of self, you would not have the problems of today's society. What you would have is Eden.

There is a mind known as divine mind, and its reasoning is divine reasoning. It is within each and every one of you. It is beyond the personality, and it is who you truly are. Your personality is just one of many garments. Your intellectual understanding is created by parents, society and the environment.

When the soul or higher levels of self are governing your life, all action will be based upon love and will be in the highest and best good of humanity and nature. Your soul is God, and God is love. If you want to know what level your will is operating on, look at your life. If you want to know the level of will of those who govern you, look at your society and the world in which you live. It is quite obvious that the will must rise to a higher level.

The Universe

The universe, or "One Verse," is like a grand puzzle. It is all coming together, and it is all God. There is nothing separate from omnipresence. To believe Creation began and ended with the Earth is to believe in error. You are all remnants of previous colonies and civilizations that have risen and fallen due to various causes. Some have been natural causes, and some have been due to unbridled greed and the lust for power, along with technology advancing at a more rapid rate than spirituality. There is more to your story and the universe than you can imagine.

I would like to begin with an explanation of form, or body. The body is a physical adaptation to the environment. Just as there are many races upon your planet, there are also many races throughout the cosmos. There are many environments that differ greatly from the Earth. And, there are many adaptations to these environments. The spirits within these bodies are all born of the original light. Thus, you are all family.

We spoke earlier of the Elohim, "the Gods born of the original light." Not all of the Gods chose to incarnate or lower their vibration into a physical body. Many remained in spiritual bodies and are working in the unseen to remind their brethren, the forgotten Gods, of their heritage. They incarnate from time to time as avatars and masters, and live their lives as examples of the God within humans. Jesus, Buddha, Babaji, White Eagle, Mohammed, Mary and a whole host of other saints and sages have incarnated at various times in your history as examples of the original light. They all spoke of one God, one family and one law. That was the law of love. They spoke to the cultures they incarnated into through the use of symbols and forms they could understand. They are responsible for the universal truths found throughout all religions. They are the examples of unifying with the God within.

There are many mansions, and the Elohim were not limited to this plane, this dimension or this planet. They manifested other vehicles (bodies) on other planes, dimensions and planets, and each civilization is at a different stage in evolution. These civilizations also took different paths in their evolutionary processes. Some evolved mentally and are very technologically advanced, yet void of emotions. Some evolved body, mind and spirit, and their technology is a reflection of their spirituality. Others chose the body and its environment to be their evolutionary process and again, and many never left spirit. This understanding will cause many of you to categorize those civilizations in a hierarchical order, yet I must remind you that experience equates wisdom and wisdom equates power. Those who have ventured into all these planes and dimensions have a greater understanding of God and the universe because they have experienced more of God and the universe.

Many advanced civilizations have interacted with Earth. Each civilization acted according to its accepted customs and beliefs, which were quite different from each other. Some acknowledged the divinity and diversity of all life and humanity's divine right to free will and self-determination. They came to guide and assist humanity. They were compassionate, loving and understanding.

There were others who came to rule humanity and be worshipped. They were jealous, wrathful and merciless. Cities and villages were decimated for refusing to worship them as Gods or follow their rules and doctrines. This in itself is a major contribution to the division in beliefs concerning the nature of God. Is He wrathful? Peaceful? All loving? Merciful? Omnipresent or somewhere else in the ethers?

There have been those who see humanity as a lower form of life to experiment with. There are also civilizations that are of your same seed who are spiritually and technologically advanced and are assisting humanity in its evolutionary process. Those who have interacted negatively with humanity are being removed from this plane. The scars and images they have left behind are also now being addressed and healed.

The universe is as infinite as God is. Humanity is soon to become aware of, and come into alignment with, other planes and dimensions and civilized planets within those planes and dimensions. The Earth's destiny is to take its rightful place as a part of a federation of planets in cooperation with their loving brothers and sisters—seen and unseen. As always, there is more to the story.

The Healing & Destiny of Earth

There is a cosmic event occurring throughout the universe. It is a quantum leap or shift, into the next phase. Earth and all of its inhabitants are being vibrationally lifted. Earth will eventually come into alignment and take its rightful place in a federation of planets interacting with the civilizations that reside upon them. This will include other planes and dimensions as well. The veils are being lifted, the clouds are dispersing, and humanity will soon come to realize it is not alone in the universe.

Jesus is presiding over this event, for he has earned the position due to his great love, compassion and service to humanity. The Earth is divided into four quadrants. There are four omnipresent masters presiding over each of the four quadrants under the direction of Jesus. They are known throughout the universe as Andromedans. To humanity, they are known as Archangels. Michael, Gabriel, Uriel, Raphael and a host of other Andromedans, along with legions, are part of this endeavor. The legions consist of other spiritually and technologically advanced civilizations. The people from the Pleiades, Orion and those based within the Earth (a book in itself) are all working together as part of this endeavor.

The pure unconditional love and joy of God is being channeled spiritually and technologically upon Earth, raising all that is of a lower frequency or vibration. All lower vibrational attitudes and emotions, their physical manifestations, and all wrong conclusions from past experience are in the process of being vibrationally lifted and healed. There has been a band of energy placed around the entire planet that is a great amplifier. It is creating polarities of fear and joy. People are choosing the polarity they desire to be the manifesting force behind creation. In other words, things are going to be a little chaotic for awhile. It is the sword before the peace. The destiny of Earth is to be a reflection of the loving, joyous Gods that reside upon her. This reflection is also to be an example of a civilization that loves God with all its heart, honors each individual as a unique expression of God, including self, and reverently cherishes the God in all life. This will give you an indicator as to where changes are necessary, the extreme of such changes, and what you can do to flow with these changes.

This lifting is occurring within the mental, emotional and physical bodies. The Earth body is also a part of this process, and she, too, is on the move in her healing and cleansing process. The collective consciousness, as well as the astral cloud surrounding the Earth (which contains lower vibrational discarnate spirits, negative thought forms and limiting mental concepts), is also in the process of being healed and lifted. There is no rock being left unturned. It is a gift. It would be wise not to resist it, but to flow with it and to make any necessary changes within yourself, your job and your environment. It is an answer to a prayer of billions, seen and unseen. It is cyclic in nature and exponential in its intensity.

Ancient Ships

This next understanding is going to be a shock to some of you, a grand "Aha!" and realization to others, and completely unthinkable and blasphemous to those who wish to remain entrenched in religious dogma.

The pillar clouds and pillars of fire that guided and caught up Moses and Elijah, and the bright cloud in which they returned, were a great ship. The parting of the Red Sea was caused by this ship, and the pillar cloud which was afire by night guiding the Israelites out of thousand miles an hour, making right angle turns. They defy all your known laws of physics. This should be quite humbling, yet there are those who, in ignorance, continue to pursue them—not in peace, but with a desire to conquer them. How primitive! If you want to make contact with spiritually and technologically advanced beings, stop being so primitive!

Demand that your government establish a non-threatening policy. While you are at it, ask your government to reveal the monumental evidence and artifacts they have kept from you. More important, work on your own fear and "againstness." Create an opening and desire within self to have contact. They will know when you are ready. It may happen when you least expect it. It may be on a secluded country road, high in the mountains, in a vast and barren desert, or even in your own backyard. One day you will look up, and they will be just sitting there or moving quietly through the sky. They may come straight down from the heavens and split into four different directions, or they may just streak across the night sky at breakneck speed. Nonetheless, they are real.

Ground Crew

We, the Ascended Masters, have spoken of the celestial part of the planetary lifting. We would also like to address the terrestrial counterpart. There are many of you knowingly and unknowingly assisting in the lifting and healing of the Earth. Many are being used as vibrational bridges, anchoring the higher vibrations of love, joy, peace and unity upon the planet. From our perspective, they are seen as columns of light. Many are not aware of the source of this energy, yet they are aware of the nature of it. They are also aware of the benefits of choosing unconditional love and joy as the manifesting forces behind all creation.

The ground crew is as diverse as humanity. People in all walks of life are awakening to their true purpose for incarnating upon this plane. Deep within them is a voice telling them, "There is more. There is a higher purpose, another way of life, a more peaceful, loving, joyous, abundant way of life with a greater awareness." They are asking themselves, "I know I came here to do something very important. What did I come here to do? Why am I here anyway? This just isn't working. There must be more." They are the awakening ground crew.

Many are fully awakened. They are the pioneers. They are awakening others in their own unique way. This higher consciousness and energy is moving through a variety of administrations, organizations and individuals that have packaged and named it everything under the sun. The name of the organization is unimportant. It is the goals and intentions that are important. People are coming forward in all walks of life, awakening and remembering their true purpose for being. They are stepping out of confusion, healing wounds from their former incarnations or Earth sojourns, and stepping into their chosen destinies.

This awakening and remembering is fully supported and implemented in a divine plan, the magnitude of which is incomprehensible. You are not alone in this endeavor, neither above nor below. You are the seeds of forever. Now is the time to awaken to your purpose, to regain your self-authority and integrity, and to move forward in the healing and lifting of this plane.

The Seven Densities of God

To give you a greater picture of the universe, which is better understood as Uni(one) Verse(song), we wish to combine dimension with density. A common analogy everyone is familiar with and can understand is water. Water can change in vibration from ice to water to steam, yet it is still water. So it is with the seven densities of God. They are all different vibrations of the same essence. Let us say the mineral kingdom is first density, the plant and insect kingdom is second density, and the animal kingdom is third density. We will talk about these first three densities because this is what humanity, as a collective, is aware of and knowledgeably interacts with. We will later address the planes just beyond the third, known as the astral planes.

The mineral kingdom made it possible for the plant and insect kingdom, and they, in turn, made it possible for the animal kingdom. They are built one upon the other, support each other, and are interdependent upon each other. And they are all holy. There are higher forms of the animal kingdom within the third density that share an individual sense of self along with humanity. Yet, for the most part, they are instinctual and react to their environment, versus having the ability to make conscious intentional decisions to alter it. Each human consists of a third density body in which resides a unique, loving, joyous, free-willing God—a God that can consciously and intentionally interact with and alter the lower densities. If he or she were smart, these lower densities would be left to themselves.

This conscious interaction has throughout time, for the most part, been unaware of the delicate balance and necessity of all densities to support one another. Any interaction or alteration must take all levels lower vibrational attitudes and emotions go to the lower astral levels. The first astral levels, or planes, are very dark and gray, corresponding to the people existing there. As one moves up the astral planes, there is more light, more love and more compassion.

The mid-levels are filled with everyday people going about business as normal in astral bodies that are as real to them as their physical bodies once were. Everything upon their level is also real, or physical, to them. The astral realm is a mental realm. Consciousness creates reality instantly within the astral level. There is no lag time between thought and physical manifestation, as there is on Earth.

As one moves up into higher astral levels, there are many wise and gifted beings, yet they are still limited in their wisdom and teachings. They are still on the wheel of cyclic existence.

Before we continue we must advise against judgment or condemnation of the lower astral levels. They are in need of love, compassion and healing. The God flame exists within them also. It may be a spark, yet a spark can ignite the full flame at any time. No one has judged or condemned those lost souls. Consciousness creates reality in this life and the next, and your consciousness gravitates or magnetizes to a plane that matches its vibration. Your vibration is the totality of thought you have chosen to be your reality. Unconditional love and joy are thoughts of the highest vibration, and fear, anger, jealousy and the need to dominate, control or manipulate others are thoughts of the lowest vibration. There is a whole gray area in between.

i || This ingenious system could only be created by God, for it honors free will and allows the individual to express, however they choose, on whatever level—while being loved unconditionally.

i || After a short while on the lower levels, most people realize the ignorance of harboring the lower vibrational attitudes and emotions. When they are ready, help is always there to heal and lift them into higher states of consciousness. However, this help never trespasses. It allows, until it is asked for.

There are those from the higher astral levels who attend to the lower astral levels, yet they, too, are learning from those beyond the astral levels. Beyond the astral levels lies the fourth dimension, which is love felt for all things, and the fifth dimension, the Christ consciousness. Here reside loving beings—the Beautiful Many Christed Masters—who administer to the needs of humanity. Their numbers are beyond counting, and they are not limited to the human experience.

We spoke earlier about the body being a physical adaptation to the environment. There are other planets with different embodiments and beings that are fully Christed within their embodiments. There are life forms that would seem ungodly to most humans, but within them resides a loving, joyous, wise and powerful Christed being. There are also those who ascended from the human experience and are no longer on the wheel of life. They are your known masters, saints and sages, of both genders, as well as quite a few unknown, ascended souls. Many ascended to a place known as Orion and others evolved even further to a place called Andromeda. They will be very active in the near future upon Earth.

In using words and a linear-time method to convey an understanding, there will always be limitation. These descriptions of the planes and dimensions are given to provide a map, yet everyone knows a map will only get you there. What you see and experience is up to you.

Manifesting & Engaging Contact

Consciousness creates reality. Therefore, to magnetize and engage a spirit or being of a higher vibration, one must first allow them to be a part of one's reality or consciousness. In other words, one must raise one's consciousness, which, in turn, opens the sacred senses. This allows the individual to sense the presence of unseen entities.

In raising one's consciousness, one has to overcome the collective consciousness based on the intellect—which does not want to go beyond its present awareness of believing in only the five senses and the greatest of all barriers: fear and unworthiness. A loving, joyous, courageous soul with an open mind is mandatory for contacting the higher vibrational realms.

The best model to explain the unseen planes and dimensions is the vibrational continuum. The physical body is the lowest density of God. The next vibration—the emotional and mental bodies—is within the astral level. In many cases, these lower astral levels are filled with lower vibrational attitudes and emotions and discarnate spirits that did not align with the higher vibrational aspects of self. Lower vibrational attitudes and emotions, such as fear, unworthiness, anger, guilt or karmic ties and unfinished business kept them from reaching the higher planes. They continue in the astral level. They have mental and emotional bodies, and they affect those inhabiting the Earth mentally and emotionally.

As we move up in vibration, we encounter the etheric self, or true soul, and expand upward into the higher vibrations. From the etheric self on up, the vibrational continuum consists of light beings or beings of higher consciousness. One can align the lower bodies with the higher bodies and truly experience heaven on Earth. To do this, there must be a clearing away of all lower vibrational attitudes and emotions within self. Call forward the God within you, and merge with the higher aspects of self. As you ascend levels in consciousness, you engage others of like mind on any particular level or vibration.

This can best be explained by an imaginary journey:

Aaron, feeling a need to engage his own higher self or an ascended master, decides to begin a spiritual quest. This quest begins with a retreat to a mountain forest—a quiet, natural setting free from psychic turbulence and the judging eyes of his peers.

Aaron finds himself expanding, feeling the unconditional love and non-judging nature of the forest. He spends days, weeks and eventually months expanding, releasing and meditating. Fear, unworthiness, wrong conclusions from past experiences and intellectual dogmas and 'isms' fall away. Eventually, all that is left is the true Aaron, at one with all life, expressing unencumbered as a loving, joyous, powerful, manifesting God.

This brilliant light descends from the mountain, returning to his family and friends. He tells them of great ships, etheric cities, strange lights, feelings and encounters with entities unseen. He is met with judgment and condemnation. He is told to "get real." The world he left is no longer his home.

Due to his heightened sensory awareness, Aaron feels all the negative thought forms, limiting mental concepts and psychic bonds. He even sees discarnate spirits, trapped by their own lower vibrational attitudes and emotions, influencing his friends. He tries to tell his friends, but he is met with extreme resentment and is accused of being in league with the devil.

Aaron now becomes an outcast from a world he once thought was a world of five-sensory experience. Now he is aware of all the unseen energies and entities at work on a multitude of levels. He also recognizes that not all unseen entities are in his highest and best good.

As always, help is there when called upon, and Aaron goes to the local coffee shop to think and reevaluate his experiences. He neither understands the experience he is undergoing nor does he have the spiritual tools necessary to deal with negative influences that affect his daily life, of which he was previously unaware.

As Aaron gazes across the room, sipping on his tea, he sees a man sitting at a table with a presence about him. The same unconditional love of the mountain forest surrounds and emanates from this man. He hears a voice in his head, which is more like a powerful thought, that says, "He has the tools you seek."

Aaron feels compelled (one might even say "pushed") to meet this man. A ten-minute argument with himself ensues, denying the voice and resisting the urge to engage the man. Aaron keeps asking himself, "What if he thinks I'm crazy? What if he knows nothing of spirit? What if..? What if..? What if..?" Aaron finally gains the courage to address the man. He stands and turns toward the table, only to find the table is now empty. Aaron throws his money on the table and rushes out the door to find the man standing there, just outside the door. He blurts out, "I heard a voice. It said you have the tools I seek."

The man smiled as he said, "Son, I could not leave the building, for I came to meet someone unknown to me—I felt it. When I tried to leave, due to my own impatience and doubt, something would not let me. You are the one I am supposed to meet, and yes, I have the tools you seek."

The man told Aaron about discarnate spirits—lost souls that have been trapped between worlds due to excessive guilt, anger, fear, unworthiness or unfinished business. He also told Aaron about negative thought forms, limiting mental concepts and the race mind, or collective consciousness, that is riddled with negative thought forms and limiting mental concepts, as well as a host of other lower vibrational attitudes and emotions. He told Aaron that his greater sensitivity and awareness is a gift and that with the gift came responsibility and a great need for self-authority. He taught Aaron how to heal all negative influences with a few simple techniques, which if used in conjunction with his higher self or other ascended masters, would never fail. He taught Aaron to be discreet and to be very selective about those with whom he shared his greater understanding. He also told him to rise above the need for any love or acceptance outside of self. He impressed upon Aaron the importance and need for gifted ones to assist in healing lost souls, dissolving negative thought forms and limited mental concepts, and awakening humanity to a greater, more unlimited awareness and understanding of God and the universe.

He taught Aaron of humanity's greatest awareness: "Love is the only and ultimate power. Heal with love, call upon the power of love, and align yourself with love. The ascended ones come on the wings of love, and work through those who choose love."

The best way to engage an ascended one is to be an ascended one. Though you have a body, you are a spirit, liken unto God—a consciousness which is the one consciousness that encompasses all consciousness. To engage the higher aspects of self, the higher planes and dimensions and those who reside on these planes and dimensions, one must raise one's own vibration, or consciousness. Allow them to be a part of your greater reality. "As you believe, so it is."

The Six Great Liars

We desire to address the first five of the six great liars. They are the five senses. When the Gods entered the body, they entered a world in which the five senses were necessary to experience the physical vibration known as "mass." Their attention, or consciousness, became fully immersed in mass, and the five senses became tools for survival instead of tools for experience. In most cases, full attention to the five senses became necessary for survival.

Because of this, other spiritual senses became dull or unrecognizable. The gifts of clairvoyance, clairaudience and clairsentience faded away. Humanity could no longer see, hear or feel the other planes and dimensions, or the unconditional love of God. The spiritual senses were natural and common to the Gods before their descent into mass. They are still innate in humans, yet, like a muscle that is never used, they have atrophied. The major portion of humanity is in need of spiritual calisthenics—an exercise program to work out and awaken the spiritual senses.

Although man is surrounded by Gods and Goddesses, angels and fairies and a whole host of unseen intelligent beings, he is unaware of them. Faded spiritual senses allowed man to fool himself into believing he was alone. He also has felt that God and his spiritual friends have abandoned him. He cannot see them, hear them, touch them, or feel them with his five senses. Nonetheless, they are there, and they have always been there.

The sixth and greatest of all liars is the intellect. It takes in only what the five senses give it, denying the presence of anything beyond the five senses. It also has within it all of the fear, guilt, unworthiness, superstitious dogma, religious dogma, scientific dogma and wrong conclusions from past experience based upon input from the five senses. The intellect is armed with a myriad of excuses and denials to invalidate the awakening and opening of the spiritual senses. It needs to be in control.

To awaken the unique God within, one must:

1. Dispense with the lower vibrational attitudes, emotions and wrong conclusions.

2. Put the intellect in its proper place as the servant of spirit rather than the master.
3. Realize that the five senses are only a very small part of a multidimensional God.

How does one do this? "Put it in reverse." The same God that drove you into your limitations can drive you out. Will and desire are the vehicles to drive you into a greater reality.

The mind is a wonderful tool in the hands of spirit. It can get you to the gate. Yet feelings are the key. God is a feeling. Live by your feelings.

The Feminine God

In a time before my time as Ezekiel, the land was governed by simple people. They worshipped a feminine God and had many deities to represent different aspects of nature. They were gatherers and tillers of the soil. It was a time of peace, harmony, abundance and unity with all life. They worshipped and gave thanks to the feminine aspect of God for their abundant crops and the birth of all life, especially their children. They believed the feminine God to be the mother of all life, and all life was their family. They treated all life as their sacred family, and there was truly no separation between God, their people and nature.

To the west were the warring herdsmen. They worshipped their image of a masculine God of power. They believed the thunder to be his voice and lightening to be his wrath. Therefore, they put him in the ethers, away from the totality of life. They were conquerors and prayed to their image of God to bring them victory and give them strength in battle. They prayed that God would rage upon and punish their enemies. Their enemies consisted of anyone who had something they wanted.

The peaceful tillers of the soil were no-match for the warring herdsmen, whose actions were incomprehensible to them. They could not bear arms against the warring herdsmen because they had no weapons and could not bring harm to anyone. To harm the herdsmen would be to harm their brothers, for they, too, were born of the one mother. Regardless of their ignorance and actions, the herdsmen were family. Thus, the tillers were conquered and enslaved by the herdsmen.

The herdsmen hated the feminine God who opposed their actions against humanity, nature, and life in general. The feminine God was a constant reminder of all they were not and what they knew in their heart of hearts to be true. They began a crusade to crush and destroy any trace of the feminine God. Temples and statues were destroyed. Those who worshipped the feminine God were either killed or tortured, and soon fear and intimidation erased all but a faint memory of the feminine God.

The warring herdsmen replaced the feminine God with their own image of a wrathful, punishing, masculine God, and their holy men created codes, doctrines, rules and regulations to appease this image. The beliefs and religions they created allowed them to continue to enslave and control the people, tax their goods and continue doing as they wished to humanity and nature.

After many generations, the warring, wrathful, punishing God became an accepted belief by the majority on Earth. This attracted the people of Elaga—extraterrestrials that assumed and acted out this image using their advanced technology to gain dominion over the Earth and its people. Those warring herdsmen who set out to conquer, control and enslave were soon conquered and controlled themselves due to their ignorance and the image they had created. The warring, wrathful, punishing God was now replaced by the people from Elaga.

The people from Elaga gave wrath and punishment a whole new meaning, and those who did not worship them were dealt with very severely. They had great ships with weaponry that decimated entire cities in a moment. Those who resisted became examples of a power that, according to their understanding, could be nothing other than God. It was, in truth, a technologically advanced, yet spiritually backward, people interacting with the people of Earth. This was the second phase of the fictitious image of a wrathful, punishing God. The Pharisees were the third.

This understanding is dedicated to the Women of Spirit and the feminine God—that which births and is the mother of all life, that which is returning to nurture and give birth to a new life—one of love, joy, peace and unity with all life.

Images, Religions, Symbols

It is written that man is created in the same image and likeness of God. To fully understand this, let us replace “image” with “consciousness.” There are many small minds that have taken their own personal image of God and projected that image into the ethers. This image has inherent within it all of the limitations of the one projecting the image. In order to give this image validity, they seek the support and agreement of others. Those who have no image agree with them and gather around this image, and thus is born organized religion. The reason that there are over 11,000 religions is because there are over 11,000 images.

In most cases the image is passed down by humans, generation to generation, where it is altered according to the needs of the existing government and religious organizations. God-inspired or not, humans are fallible. The clarity of any truth is relative to the clarity of the mind it comes through. All experience is altered by the one who perceives it. An experience must fit one's picture of reality and if it does not, an individual will adjust the experience within the mind. He will then relay the experience as he perceived it. If one does not have anything to compare an experience with, he will adjust the experience to symbols and images he understands. Many sacred writings were not recorded until 200 years after the events, according to stories passed down by word of mouth. We all know what happens to the original story. It is altered, amended and adjusted to fit the needs of the storyteller.

There are tribes in Africa that have built straw airplanes and lit fires to attract the Gods in the sky. To the tribesmen, anyone who can fly must be a God. When they see airplanes fly overhead, they believe the airplanes are Gods. Those in the airplane understand and accept the airplane as a mechanical means of traveling long distances.

As Ezekiel, I experienced the landing of a ship. The ship was from Elaga, a technologically advanced civilization. They had the ability to teleport objects and people and communicate with anyone, anywhere, at any time. They desired to “straighten out” humanity in their own way. Unfortunately, they also wanted to be appreciated and worshipped as Gods. Their love was far from unconditional. I described this ship to the best of my ability, and it is recorded in your bible, along with countless other encounters with “fiery chariots.”

This was an intellectual description by a personality and was based upon the experience of that lifetime. The description was based on my understanding at that time of God and the universe, using the words, symbols and objects understood at that time. In other words, it is old news.

I have since evolved to a greater understanding of God and the universe. I now know about the Elaga civilization and their technology. What I experienced as Ezekiel and my “superstition” has been dissolved by this greater understanding of God and the universe. Images and religious misconceptions based upon the old images give way to this greater understanding. To hold on to the images of the controlling, manipulating energies will come to a close. The pure unconditional love and joy of Yaweh and the Great White Brotherhood will be the governing consciousness of humanity.

The Last Great War

The last great war shall be a war in consciousness, light and energy. There shall be no nuclear war. There is a limit to allowing, and nuclear war would be devastating to other life forms on this plane and other dimensions as well. It shall not be permitted. The last great war shall be between the Christ Consciousness and all that which is against the Christ Consciousness. It is a war between the soul's ego, being the working duplicate of the God-self, and the alter ego, programmed by social consciousness. The alter ego is riddled with fear, unworthiness, disease, religious and scientific dogma, and a myriad of wrong conclusions from past experiences. There will be those who will resist vehemently the awakening and healing process, yet it is no longer optional. It is destiny.

The fruits of the labor of grand masters, saints and sages are being harvested as we speak, with the greater harvest just around the corner. This great war shall be multidimensional, as above, so below. It will be experienced on Earth as the fall of the tyrants. Those who lust for power and money at the expense of humanity and nature, those who desire to possess, dominate, control and manipulate, and those who refuse to honor the divine right to free will and self-determination of the individual, shall not see the coming age. The lag time between the action and the reaction is being drastically shortened. Their karma shall seem instantaneous. Those who cling to social consciousness will also experience an acceleration of everything within social consciousness.

The diseases, fears, insecurities, anger, violence, jealousies, separating attitudes and emotions will all manifest until there is a healing and change in consciousness. Those in your governments and your business and religious institutions who desire to dominate, control and manipulate, stifling individual freedom, will become even more tyrannical and fanatical. The other polarity will also be amplified, and those who stand steadfast for love of God, humanity and nature, as well as universal justice, will also be exalted. Behind them will be legions seen and unseen. The masses will become enlightened and empowered from within, and they shall also make their stand. The polarities between love, joy and individual freedom and the opposing factions of fear, againstness and those who desire to take away your freedom will become very apparent.

Nature will also move with the acceleration of time in her cleansing and healing process, and there will be a quantum leap in physical evolution. There has been an electrical band of energy, known as the blue corona, placed around the Earth, which is accelerating and amplifying the awakening and healing process. It is intensifying the polarities, exalting everything and bringing forward the people and events into your daily lives that correspond with your attitudes and emotions. You are all getting a crash course in self. As the energy increases cyclically and exponentially, it will seem as if the world has gone rather mad.

This event is also happening on what is termed other planes and dimensions as well. The astral levels, often referred to as the wheel of life, are also experiencing the awakening and healing process. They, too, are experiencing a quickenning of their attitudes and emotions.

As the veils are lifted, many are going to experience feeling the presence of loved ones who have made their transition working out unfinished business, or just saying good-bye as they ascend to new levels. They are also healing the wounds, traumas and wrong conclusions from past experiences, which also perhaps involved those they left behind on Earth, yet are still connected to on a mental and emotional level.

There is another experience that is going to manifest in your heavens. It will be the greatest of all wars. It concerns a group of beings that have, and still are, based upon the Earth. They were responsible for creating great dynasties. They have been behind the greatest tyrants that have plagued the Earth for eons. They have created images of jealous wrathful Gods, fearful demons and a few other clever creations—all to keep you in darkness and subservience. They do love humanity, yet that love is very conditional, and they will only exalt you to the level that they can be worshipped and continue to control and manipulate you. They do not desire for you to realize that you are Gods born of the original light, for then they would have no more control and could no longer hold their exalted position over you. They are best understood as a house of consciousness, and there are many who have mistakenly aligned themselves with this house and are, in most cases, unconscious that they are doing their bidding. They are unaware that when you desire to control and manipulate others, you attune to and attract others of like mind, on other planes and dimensions of consciousness. In turn for the use of a little of the power from these malevolent beings, they themselves end up being controlled and manipulated, and in some cases, possessed.

Like minds attract like minds. These particular entities are known as the evolved tyrants. Those who align themselves with this house will be known by their own desires to hold others beneath them and their controlling and by manipulating tendencies. These evolved tyrants are realizing their next move is governed by the moves of those beneath them. Thus, they have given up their freedom and are controlled in truth by those beneath them. They are also evolving and coming to the realization that they do not need to possess so many forgotten Gods to exact self worth. Those based upon the Earth are already being turned around. There is a greater consciousness intervening on your behalf, along with a great armada with ships beyond your wildest imagination. Their leader, the once defeated Jehovah, is returning. Yet, you will not experience his wrath, for that which awaits him is awesome. It will be as if the greatest of all Gods that ever were and the whole universe have set out to greet him on your behalf. That is how greatly you are loved. There shall be a war in the heavens, and it will be a war of consciousness and light.

On Earth it will be seen as great bursts of light in your heavens, eventually ending in twelve days of continuous light. This will signal the end of the tyrants, the end of social (nonspiritual) consciousness and all lower vibrational attitudes and emotions. This will be the final lifting, and those who are left will be the meek, profound feeling entities who have aligned themselves with their soul's purpose and destiny and chose love to be the manifesting force behind all creation. They will be those who removed themselves from social consciousness and chose the Christ consciousness—those who aligned themselves with the house of Yaweh, the Great White Brother/Sisterhood, and the Beautiful Many masters, saints, and sages dedicated to awakening the God within you. It will be known as the age of God.

Proof

I wish to speak concerning the desire for proof. You will only see what you want to see, hear what you want to hear, and accept what you want to accept. You, and only you, authorize what is to be your reality. The universe unfolds according to your picture of reality. Those whose minds are closed, or who are extremely skeptical, do not want proof. What they desire is to remain in their present reality. And, as God's favorite words are, "As you wish," there they stay. Their world is a reflection of a closed and skeptical mind, which is manifesting and validating their truth.

Another point concerning truth is that if a truth needs defending, you don't own it. If you are in need of acceptance from others, you have given away your power. Only a limited God needs defending.

Cast your pearls only before those who will appreciate them, and if they are of a different truth, allow them.

This can best be illustrated by a story:

A small-minded professor once came to a great master. He was very closed to any reality other than that which could be measured or experienced by the five senses. He demanded that the master read his mind to prove to him his spiritual abilities. The master smiled, and, pulling a small straight pin from his robe, he asked the professor to first read the inscription upon the head of the pin. The professor stared and stared. He took his glasses off and cleaned them, then once again stared intently upon the head of the pin. After a few minutes, the professor said, "I know something is there, but I can't read it. It's just too small." The master replied, "That is also my problem."

The professor, oblivious to the correlation between the small pin and his small mind, asked, "Can I take it home with me and use a magnifying glass on it?" The master replied, "I am the magnifying glass you seek." This again puzzled the professor. The master plucked the pin from his hand, stared at it and read the following inscription: "The Universe cannot be held on the head of a pin."

The professor, again missing the wisdom in the words of the inscription, accused the master of already knowing the inscription or making it up. The master replied, "I had foreknowledge of the inscription. A greater master gave me the pin and asked me to read the inscription. I spent days in contemplation until it was finally revealed to me. I told the great master the inscription, and he smiled and nodded his head in agreement."

The professor replied, "So you have never used a microscope or magnifying glass to prove it to yourself?" The Master replied, "I told you before, I am the magnifying glass, and I have seen the inscription—not with my physical eyes, but with my inner vision. It is all the proof I need. You, dear brother, shall never know what is on the head of the pin, for you have not learned to trust your own feelings and knowingness."

"You have gained your understanding through recycled ignorance and that which can be stuffed into a test tube or measured by a physical apparatus. A fact is nothing more than a theory that enough people have agreed upon. Even imagination is a fact relative to the plane upon which it resides. All things begin as an idea or thought, and as we evolve in consciousness, truth evolves and facts change. As for reading your mind, I will tell you this. You will waste a great portion of your future thoughts wondering what was on the head of the pin. The universe is only as infinite as the mind that can perceive it. If you say it is so, it is so to you. Truly, as you believe, so it is. I cannot read your mind until you open it." The Master stuck the pin in his robe and joyously went his way.

"For in this place, the Father cannot do any great thing because they lack the faith."—Jesus

God Is

We have spoken of the past and given you a clear image of what God is not. Therefore, it is time to give you a less limited perception of what God is. In doing this, you will have something to hold up to the many idols and graven images of the past. This perception is also limited. To believe that the totality of God can be written or spoken is an error. What is infinite cannot be understood or contained within the finite mind of humans. It is only when you expand beyond the mind that your image expands. God is only as infinite as the mind that perceives Him. We desire for you to feel these words, for they carry with them more than what is written.

This journey will not be made in a linear movement, but rather one that goes inward and outward, up and down, backwards and forwards, and from the finite to the infinite. A helpful hint in this understanding is that infinity travels in many directions.

The Father-Mother-God principle, known as 'life,' is the one consciousness that encompasses all consciousness, which is omnipresent on all planes and all dimensions throughout the universe—uni(one) verse(song).

God is the nothingness of space, as well as all that is contained in space. God is neither male nor female, yet God is both male and female. God is the infinite universe and the billions of worlds in the infinite atoms. God is the fly you splattered on your window. God is the distant star in the heavens. God is the Milky Way, as well as the grain of sand on the beach. God is the flower, the tree, the dolphin, the toad, the fish, the rock. God is life in all of its forms, on all planes and all dimensions. There is nothing that is not vibrating and pulsing with the love of God, for it is love that holds it together. Even you, regardless of how you judge yourself, are God. No matter how hard you try, you cannot separate yourself or any living thing from omnipresence. God is all that is and in his most unlimited understanding; God is pure, unconditional love and joy. This could go on forever just as God is forever.

There is one example which best represents the "is" that is all that is, and it rises in the east every morning. It shines its light on everything and judges nothing. Its rays warm the rich and the poor, the honest and the lying, the snake as well as the eagle. Its rays of love are given unconditionally, regardless of attitude or form. It is ongoing and never ceases.

It knows there is nothing worth stepping out of unconditional love and joy. Be like the sun. Greet the sun and give it thanks for being the example, just as you would greet and thank Jesus for his example. And know that this example is there for you to become. Only a limited God would have only one son. You are all sons and daughters of the Most High. In reality, you are the Most High, for in this image you were created. Do not separate yourself from God or the universe any longer. It is written, "Know you not that you are the temple of God and that the spirit of God dwells in you?" (Corinthians 3:16) You can choose another reality, but it is only an adventure into illusion and the limitations inherent in it. Be one with the infinite, for in God there is no separation. Let the pure, unconditional love and joy permeate your being until all is lifted into oneness. Become the light, for out of light you were born and into light you shall return.

Satan & the Antichrist

Many of your sacred books were written in dark and superstitious times. There were great masters who had to use the terminology of the times, acknowledging the evolutionary stage of the people they were administering to. I once tried to bring a higher understanding to a man who was quite primitive in his understanding. This understanding was concerning the nature of our ships. He asked how they flew. I told him it was antigravity generated by a perpetual motion machine that was not limited to time, distance and space. He then asked what gravity and perpetual motion were.

I was getting nowhere fast. So, I told him the ship was a vehicle of the Gods, and it went where they wished because they commanded it so. This he understood. A simple man with no technological background will accept an act of God before he accepts a technological description of what he perceives as a phenomenon. To him it is the descent of a God. To us it is one of our vehicles landing. I am telling you this to give you an example of how many phenomena were recorded by primitive people and how, in order to convey a message, great masters had to use the language of humanity's technologically limited understanding.

Jesus is spearheading, so to speak, a divine plan, the first part of which was his Earthly sojourn to set the pattern and example. The second phase will be done through the hearts and minds of men. It is the second coming, or the Christ consciousness realized individually. This consciousness is emerging throughout all life. He is here to burn the false images in favor of an omnipresent image of God that includes the totality of life.

Jesus is the guidance and the power that resists man's graven images, ever lifting and empowering those who resist the false images of even himself. So when you feel the power to resist dogmas, "isms," schisms and the images flowing through you, know that it is the love of God, the love of Jesus, and that you are right on track, regardless of the judgments and condemnations of others. You didn't realize Jesus is with you all the time, loving you unconditionally and empowering the omnipresent individual God within you, now did you?

Jesus is not alone in this endeavor. He is with legions—the Beautiful Many Angelic Guides and Ascended Masters, Nature Spirits and other spiritually and technologically advanced civilizations are all coming together for a grand event. It is as if the whole universe has come to watch and assist in the birth of a planet and its people into a new time, another dimension and another place in the universe.

The Purpose of a Master

The purpose of a master is not to bind you to doctrines, "isms" and schisms. It is not to create an image somewhere in the ethers outside of humans or nature. It is not to create a following, thus ensnaring the masses. The purpose of a master is to lift and empower the individual, awakening the unique, loving, joyous, wise and powerful manifesting God in you. Those who gather around the true masters are not codependent. They are independent and unique. They share a common interest.

Many masters have come to this plane with the same message. They each deliver it in their own unique way, using words and symbols that cater to the many diverse cultures. The universal truths have always been part of their teachings. They all speak of an omnipresent, omnipotent, omniscient God, yet each places this God within the individual. They all speak of a heaven that is their home, yet they also say that heaven is a state of consciousness. They speak of love, joy and harmlessness. A great many of them realized God in nature while sitting beneath a tree.

Their teachings are simple, for they are simple in nature, uncluttered by the psychobabble of intellectual rhetoric. They played and meditated. They surrendered their lower selves, or baser attitudes and emotions, to a higher consciousness. They are dedicated, committed, loving and joyous entities who took the time and found the courage to go beyond all limitations, all dogmas scientific and religious. They fully accepted and loved self. They neither shrink with fear or anger at the judgments or condemnations of others, nor do they swell with pride from praise or adoration. The greatest masters will remind you that they are but a mirror of what is within you, for if it wasn't in self you could never recognize it.

They are a blessing to life and to all they come in contact with. There are great masters upon this plane, and what is done on the outskirts of their aura is incomprehensible. They are vibrational bridges or anchors of light. Because of them this plane is spared much of the chaos and confusion the collective consciousness of humanity has set into motion. There are those who, with a wave of their hand, could end any disaster or calamity, yet they know this would stunt the evolution of humanity. Their divine intervention has saved nations and the planet on many occasions. Although free will is honored, there is a limit to allowing.

To insure the continuation of evolution, they have altered the course of humanity on many occasions. They are your brothers; they are born of the original light as you are, yet they are fully realized. They know they are Gods and they have been babysitting you, so to speak, until you remember. They are not here to live your life or tell you what you should or should not do. They guide, clarify options and remove the clouds so that you can see better. They teach you that all you need to do is remember that all knowledge is within, and that you are the way. The purpose of a master is to remind you that you are the master. They are mirrors and examples of the light that lights every human, which is the light of God. They are your brothers and sisters. They are Gods and Goddesses. They are awake.

Rites, Rituals & Talismans

Rites and rituals are found in all civilizations. They are for the purpose of guiding and focusing the mind to create a desired effect. They provide a method for gaining a conviction. Many have become lost in their rites and rituals. They believe the only way they can receive the desired effect is by performing the rite or ritual.

Rites and rituals often include talismans. To some, the loss of a talisman used in a ritual will negate the effect of the ritual. The mere

Moving Onward

Money

Money is neither good nor evil. It is merely the accepted exchange of today's society. It is best to look upon money as energy directed by consciousness. This energy, money, can be directed selfishly, at the expense of humanity and nature, which results in only a temporary, short-term gain. Or it can be directed selflessly for the betterment of humanity and nature, which results in a continuous, everlasting, long-term gain. The best investment humanity can presently make is an investment in the healing and awakening of individual and collective consciousness. The destiny of the Earth is governed by the individual and collective consciousness of those who reside upon it.

Consciousness creates reality. When you invest in cleaning up your consciousness, you become a light to the world, assisting others in cleaning up their consciousness. What you have then is a forward movement back to Eden. Consciousness is the most valuable possession in the universe. It is a gift from God. It creates your tomorrow. There is no jewel, castle or amount of gold that is worth consciousness. Many have defiled their consciousness and have literally sold their souls whoring for money, security, status and a lifestyle or image having little or nothing to do with their true soul's desires. It is all for the dreams and images of others. They have given up everything that is truly of value. They have become so programmed by television and social consciousness that they have no idea what is valuable, what their purpose in life is, or what truly brings them joy. Many don't even know what joy is because the reference point is always outside of themselves. Their joy is based upon images, objects and outer appearances.

Did you know that all you have to do to sell something is to attach sex to it? A few scantily clothed bronzed men and painted women who will love you and accept you into their "in crowd" and ... Presto! The image and the desire are created. Few ask themselves, "Is it my soul's desire to experience or own that?" or "Is this my purpose in life?" What we are saying is that the better portion of humanity is constantly bombarded, hypnotized and programmed with these images, and kept off balance and out of touch with their purpose for being and their true soul desires. Priorities and values are, in most cases, backward.

The prime directive is to acquire the money to buy the products necessary to conform to a fashionable image. This image was given by those who sell the products. Wake up!

What most people are searching for is love and acceptance out there. What you don't realize is that when you love and accept yourself, you don't need all the props. What you are really searching for is feelings. Where do the feelings come from? Material objects do not possess feelings. They are merely touchstones. The feeling comes from within. People do not make you feel happy, loving or hateful; these emotions come from within. When you realize this, freedom is just around the corner. Your love, joy and happiness will no longer depend upon material acquisitions or others. It is hard to imagine being in love with love, being happy for no reason, or just plain being, without constantly seeking touchstones or people to make you happy.

Much of your greatest unhappiness is concerning the issue of money or the lack of it.

Love yourself enough to get to know and be with yourself, which means taking time away from your labor. There will be a shift in consciousness. Soon what you will desire is to experience real people who are in touch with themselves, their true selves. If you desire to experience your true self, the best place to do this is in nature—free from the judgments of your peers and the psychic turbulence and social consciousness of the city. Find yourself a great rock or majestic tree and ask yourself, "Why am I not happy? Where did I lose the ability to feel the love and joy within?" To be loving and joyous is your natural state.

Concerning the history of money, there are a few historical facts we would like to share with you. There have been many civilizations—some recorded, some unrecorded—that have collapsed due to their consciousness concerning the material. One in particular was known as Atlantis. There were different parties within the Atlantean society much like your Republican and Democratic parties. One party was focused primarily on pleasure, sense gratification, and living a lifestyle regardless of its effects to the planet. They also had elitist attitudes and were not beyond exploiting and dominating others to meet their desires. Their scientific endeavors followed the same direction as their consciousness. They were known as the Sons of Belial.

The other party was known as the Law of One and they were more spiritual in nature. They honored each individual as a unique expression of God. Rather than dominate or exploit those who were not as fortunate, they endeavored to educate, empower and raise everyone to equal status. Their scientific endeavors were also a reflection of their consciousness, and nothing was created or implemented that would harm humanity or nature in any way. There were also a lot of fence sitters who had a foot in both camps.

Nonetheless, the Sons of Belial were more aggressive and overpowered the Law of One in their lust for power. The class separation escalated, their scientists went unchecked, they continued to dominate and exploit nature and those who were less fortunate, despite the warnings and objections of those true to the Law of One. They even fought among themselves. There are great columns and stone buildings being discovered as deep as 6,000 feet beneath your oceans. One is off the coast of Peru, the other is near Easter Island. These are the remnants of their cities.

There are many factors or reoccurring themes which signal the beginning of the end of a civilization. The Romans had a huge military spread across their known world. They held an elitist attitude and were known for exploiting the people and the resources of weaker countries. They became obsessed with their material acquisitions, positions, titles and status. Their priorities and values shifted, and morally they declined to the point of decadence.

Another part of your more recent history is the French Revolution. The Aristocracy followed the same path as the Sons of Belial and lost everything—including their heads. "Does any of this sound familiar? Are there any similarities to today's society?" Hopefully humanity will gain the wisdom from these experiences and not recreate the past. As far as the universe goes, the Earth is one of the few civilizations that uses money. Many advanced civilizations found that money without the proper consciousness often breeds greed, class separation, competition and conflict. In their system everyone is inspired to reach their greatest potential, fulfill their own unique soul's purpose, and always work in the highest and best good of their civilization. Their environment is also of the highest priority. Because of this they live abundantly, crime is very rare, and their resources are always directed towards improving their quality of life, individually and collectively. There is no competition, only constant refining and perfecting. They each share and build on the accomplishments and achievements of each other and all are honored evenly. By serving the whole they have realized that they are serving themselves and God.

They realize that life is a system of equally important and interconnected parts, all of which are part of a greater system. This greater system is the omnipresent life force. They live an abundant, fulfilling life in peace and freedom because they have the consciousness for it. They have conquered disease, and they live hundreds of years. They understand the universal principles, and they live by them.

They do not have prisons because there is no need. They honor free will, yet have advanced counseling and healing techniques. The occasional few who have unresolved issues or who experience confusion, stress or grief willingly seek the help they need. Although it is very rare, they sometimes have an extreme case in which an expulsion is necessary. In this worst case scenario an individual is expelled to another planet where they can live out their lives without harming others. They are provided for, and the conditions are not harsh because it is not a form of punishment. It is what is necessary to preserve the consciousness of the civilization, which all agree is the first priority. It is done with firm compassion.

They know that consciousness creates reality. Maintaining a collective consciousness free of lower vibrational attitudes and emotions is imperative to the continuation of their civilization. At one time in your distant past the Earth was used as a colony for this purpose. This does not imply that you are the descendents of undesirable criminals. The few expelled to the Earth did not survive as a colony.

These same advanced healing techniques are surfacing within your own civilization. The higher consciousness and energy is inspiring new ways and techniques to deal with the problems of society. Those who are acting selfishly, arrogantly and ignorantly are becoming increasingly unfashionable. Those who depend on outer appearances to establish self worth will be seen for their shallowness. Those who hoard and misuse their power or financial status and obtain their wealth at the expense of humanity or nature will be held in disgust rather than being admired.

There is a light coming on within their souls also, and they, too, are constantly reevaluating their lives. They wonder why they are not happy, why they cannot find love, why they are so insecure, and whether it is all worth it. Everyone wants to be loved and respected, and in their hearts, everyone truly desires that no one suffer. That is what resides within the hearts of all humanity, and that is what is coming forward.

There are universal laws concerning growth and abundance found
